

Friend

The stars drew us together
All those years ago,
A time least expected
No resistance to pause the flow.

A discovery of familiar,
A discovery of the same;
All the stars had to do
Was create the initial flame.

It was never planned for us to be Together, one, or whole;
More so parts of each other,
Forever connected, a north star hold.

Energy burns bright between us
A firework for the soul,
Sparks light up the mental skies,
A joy to behold.

And as our life on earth continues
on until its end,
I ask the stars for a few more moments
for both of us my friend.
